THE METHODIST CONFERENCE ON THE PRESIDENT.

What is the matter now? Will the passions of those who should give to the world a good example run amuck and make a scene never to be forgotten in the annals of the church. The floor of the room in which a Methodist general conference at Chicago was held sustained the weight of the heat and wrath of contending religious factions over the canteen law as applied to the army. The good, and some say over-righteous, members of the conference were in favor of demolishing McKinley because he sustained and applied the construction given the law by the United States Attorney-General. The construction given by the Attorney-General was characterized as weak and not in accord with the letter or spirit of the statute.

The Journal is of the opinion these men were right when they said the construction given was weak. The German element in the convention came in for their share of criticism from the defenders of the very good William McKinley. The Germans were charged with a political feeling against the President arising out of a bias in favor of the Boers in the Boer war. These men were informed by the President's pastor at Washington that he might, with like propriety, accuse by resolution Emperor William as the Germans were indulging in against McKinley. The pastor perhaps had a little heat in his color when he so stated, which caused him to forget that these men are German-Americans and republicans. The club of the pastor was applied with such vigor and effect in the conference that the Germans and other combatants in martial array against McKinley and the Republican party were defeated.

The honey of conciliation after the battle was applied, which did not conciliate, as the war will continue until the polls are closed on election day in November. When men are brow-beaten into silence and their native land is used as a club to do the work, it should not be received as conclusive that silence will not be broken with a marked effect on the highways and in the workshops. The wedge has been entered that will split the politics of the Methodist church, and God and Mammon will have it out, as the church will not, because it cannot serve both.

William McKinley, the Methodist, may continue to serve Mammon, but the spirit of John Wesley in the church will continue to serve God, and John will get away with William as sure as the Lord reigns and the gospel that includes peace on earth, good will to men is preached to the people.

The canteen law is a result of the efforts of temperance people before congress, which is believed by them that the President and Attorney-General have succeeded in beating in its application by an unfavorable construction of the law in its letter and spirit. When temperance people, who are mostly Republican in politics, take in review the whole question of trusts as applied by the Republican party, they will learn that the combined corporate liquor interests of the country are receiving the same protection as other trusts are receiving from that party. When Hanna said the trusts are doing no harm the combined liquor trusts were included in as full a sense as any of the trusts there are in the country, which explains the construction given to the canteen law.

The Methodist church and the liquor trusts have been partners in politics since the national canvass preceding Garfield's election. The combined liquor interests at that time consoled to the churches and more especially to the Methodist church that efforts would be made by those representing these interests to place the sale of liquor upon a more elevated plane by insisting upon and procuring a high license system. The liquor question was then put to rest in national politics and from that time till the canteen made its appearance there has been no trouble over the liquor question between the churches and the combined liquor interests.

The political copartnership then formed has continued, to the delight and support of the Republican party. Trust interests in all departments are under its protection and care and there is not a man in the party who knows that fact better than President McKinley. The obligation the party is under to protect the combined liquor trusts is as binding upon it as is the protection of any of the trusts. The President and Attorney General are carrying out a party obligation when the canteen law is denied operation according to its letter and spirit, and as the Journal understands the arrangement, the church has no cause to complain till the political copartnership is dissolved that exists between the churches and the liquor trusts for the support of the Republican party.

It may be the President's pastor was informed upon the arrangement there is between the church and the liquor interests when he eluded the Germans and others into submission in the general conference. Should not headed members become troublesome in the church over the canteen business it will have a bad effect upon the copartnership that exists between the church and trust liquor interests in politics. The effect will be destruction to the Republican party as the churches and the combined liquor interests are its chief supports.

There should be no quarrel between them and there would not be any at this time were it not for the position of the party on the Boer war, if it is true as stated by the President's pastor. It is all well enough to have it go to the country that the Germans and the Boer war are the cause of the trouble, but there is much more in the difficulty than was stated by the President's pastor. There were men in that conference under the lay representation system there is now in the church who are as wide awake as McKinley, who understand the underlying cause there is for the action of the President in the canteen business or the following language would not have been used in the conference: "The action of the President is a monument of crime and a disgrace to civilization. It is nothing less than a league with death and an agreement with hell. We must strike at the roots." The language is severe to say the least about it that could be said when it is uttered in a Christian body presumed to represent the best thought there is in the church.

MINES AND MINING

Items About Nevada's Leading Industry Clipped From Exchanges.

The citizens of De Lamar subscribed $321.25 for the relief of the sufferers by the recent explosion in the coal mine at Seefeld, Utah. St. Peter will reserve a front seat in Paradise for the De Lamar contingent.

The Carson Appeal says. A private letter received in this city from Mason valley announces two big copper deals having been consummated in that valley. The coin is up and things are apt to boom in the near future.

The Hawthorne Bulletin says: A mining excitement exists at Pine Grove, caused by the finding of some very rich float rock by A. A. Baer, in the hills seven miles west of town. This find is in a section of country that has never been prospected, and every able-bodied man of the Grove is in the hills.

Eureka Sentinel: Within the past few days the first payment has been made on the Two-G mining properties recently bonded to Boston parties, and the indications point to their early development. The property consists of eight patented mines, farm, valuable water right and a large dump that is considered very valuable. The property is ninety-five miles from Eureka.

Three trainloads of ore a week are being brought down from the mine now and is worked in the smelter directly from the crushers, says the Golconda News. The ore from the shaft in the open out which is of good quality, is worked, it is said, in this manner with the same success as the mine ore. Furnace No 2 is undergoing repairs and when finished will be immediately fired up putting to work about ten more men.

Remarkable Cure of Rheumatism.

KENNA, Jackson Co., W. Va. About three years ago my wife had an attack of rheumatism which confined her to her bed for over a month and rendered her unable to walk a step without assistance, her limbs being swollen to double their normal size. Mr. S. Maddox insisted on my using Chamberlain's Pain Balm. I purchased a fifty-cent bottle and used it according to the directions and the next morning she walked to breakfast without assistance in any manner, and she has not had a similar attack since.—A. WAR IN THE PHILIPPINES
NOT YET OVER

The Insurgents Surprise a Garrison and Kill a Number of American Soldiers.

Special to the JOURNAL.

MANILLA, May 30.—The insurgents surprised the garrison as San Miguel de Mayumo, occupied by three companies of the Thirty-fifth volunteer infantry a few miles from here Tuesday night. Sweeping through the town they fired right and left, killing five Americans and wounding seven. Besides these Captain Charles Roberts and two men are missing. The Ladrone attacked a troop of the Forty-sixth infantry, while escorting a band of rebels, killing three of the party.

British Prisoners Released.

Special to the JOURNAL.

LONDON, May 31.—Official war advices from South Africa announce that Lord Roberts and his troops are occupying Johannesburg, and the war is regarded as practically over. The Boers have been forced to release all British prisoners.

BRIEF WIRED WORDS.

The House refused to accept the Senae's amendment relating to armor plate.

Four Americans were killed in an engagement which occurred between the forty-third infantry and Filipino insurgents.

Rioting prevails in St. Louis on account of the Transit Co.'s strike. Eleven persons were killed.

Nearly half the Chinese population of Chicago must leave its present quarters and secure habitation in buildings whose sanitary conditions will satisfy the health officials.

The Senate agrees that the Secretary of the Treasury has control of the Chinese Exclusion Act.

The Craving For Stimulants.

The blood normally contains stimulants, and that these stimulants exercise a favoring influence on function and conduce to and may even be a necessary factor in the production of the feeling of well being explains the widespread liking in man and beast for stimulating substances. This liking, amounting often to a craving, is the expression of a great physiological principle. When health is perfect, when the blood is well provided with its proper stimulants and not overcharged with depressants, there is no craving for extraneous stimulants, such as alcohol, tea or coffee, but when the blood is defective in the one or surcharged with the other then is felt the desire for the glass of wine or the cup of tea.

In order to obviate this desire the body should be kept at the highest level of health. The more perfect the health the more perfect will be the composition of the blood in respect to both physiological stimulants and deleterious toxins. A blood properly constituted in these and other respects will exercise a gentle stimulant action on the nervous system and induce a condition of mild physiological intoxication, which expresses itself in a feeling of well being and happiness—a condition that cannot be bettered.

The Head Hunters. In Tupasele, in New Guinea, the houses are built on piles in the open ocean a good distance from the shore. The object of this is to protect the inhabitants against sudden attacks of the kindly head hunters, who always are on the lookout for victims, whose heads they need in their business. Other villages in this happy land are perched up in all but inaccessible trees for the same weighty reason.

Two Reasons.

"You mustn't play with Mr. Borum's hat, Bobby," said a young lady who was entertaining a caller to her small brother.

"Why mustn't I?" asked the youngster.

"Because you might break it," replied his sister, "and, besides, he will want it shortly."—Chicago News.

One Reason St. Two Much Pather.

"One day," says Jean Francois Raffalli, "Daudet was arguing a point that on the stage it is a mistake to insist too strongly on any one form of sentiment, whatever it may be. 'Listen,' said he. 'I recall a little incident which may serve to illustrate my meaning: A woman dressed in black one day entered an omnibus in which I happened to be. She was in deep mourning, and her countenance was so worn, so contracted, so furrowed with grief, that her neighbor could not refrain from asking what terrible sorrow it could be that had thus left its marks upon her.

"Whereupon the woman, amid the sympathetic attention of all the little world in the omnibus, including the conductor, who did nothing but blow his nose so as to hide his tears, told how she had lost first one child and within a very few days another. Every one pitied her greatly, but when she proceeded with many tears to tell of the death of a third child her hearers were somewhat less moved, and finally, when she launched into a long account of the loss of a fourth—devoured by a crocodile on the banks of the Nile—every one in the omnibus rest out laughing!"—New Lippincott.

Peruvian Army Discipline.

This military story is printed in a Lima paper: A man belonging to the Peruvian artillery was ordered to be flogged, and there was no regulation cat handy with which to inflict the chastigation. The officer in charge, who was a severe disciplinarian, decided to defer the carrying out of the order until the official scourge, which he at once requisitioned, should arrive. It was about a year before the cat was supplied by the authorities. By that time the soldier had been dead several months!

The Salmon.

When a young salmon is first hatched, it is known as a parr. Just before it leaves the fresh for the salt water it is called a smolt. When it first returns to spawn, it becomes a grilse, and not until it has spawned is it entitled to be dignified by the name of salmon.

MEMORIAL PROCEEDINGS

Garlands for the Graves of Soldiers, Relatives and Friends.

A day more suitable for the observance of the decorating of graves could not be desired.

The high, blue sky was cloudless, and a soft zephyr faintly rustled the fresh green leaves of our country trees and shrubbery. Nature and man were in perfect harmony, and to those who had dear ones laid away in the cemeteries a feeling of solace and consolation seemed to lessen sorrowful thoughts as flowers were strewn over graves, whilst the sun shown peacefully down from above, his warm rays tempered by cooling breezes.

Grand Marshal Gosse and his coterie of aids deftly formed the procession, and there was little, if any, delay in getting the line in motion. The cadet battalion with its splendid band headed the column, followed by the members of O. M. Mitchell Post, G. A. R., commanded by H. H. Hogan.

Every year that rolls by finds the ranks of our old veterans thinned by the loss of one or more of these gray haired soldiers. Yet, from the command "Forward, march!" until a halt is called the Civil War "vets" step off with a martial tread and sprightly air. A few Spanish war veterans—a very few—followed in the wake of the G. A. R. In carriages next came that noble adjunct of the veterans, the W. B. Corps; Commander, Mrs. Phelan. The school children made a showing that softened one's heart to witness. When young America is patriotic enough to march through dust and heat for hours at a stretch, their appreciation of the nation's Memorial day must be strong indeed.

The exercises at Hillside cemetery were patriotic; not too long and full of pathos. The band music and hymns by a quartette, composed of Mrs. Frank Lee, Miss Cecil Linn, and Messrs. O'Sullivan and Tobin were especially appropriate. F. H. Norcross delivered the oration of the day, and spoke to the veterans present and of the veterans gone from us in glowing terms. The program was finished by G. A. R. ceremonies, after which flowers were scattered on the graves of soldiers, of relatives and of friends.

Decoration day is one which will forever live in the hearts of loyal Americans, and now, since the late war with Spain, the day is observed with more heartfelt emotions than in many years past.

Faculty Declare
Themselves Winners

The faculty, assisted by this year's graduates, done up the alumni baseball nine Wednesday afternoon. The game was odd; it was amusing, and caused much and varied entertainment for the merry crowd of spectators. Some of the players were well posted on baseball tactics, a few had played in match games before, and numbers experienced their first feeling of having a swiftly flying baseball thrown directly at their head.

Professor Lewers, the faculty center fielder, remarked that a base ball bat wasn't as easily handled as a tennis racket. It might also be added that Prof. Lewers actually tripped down to second base, all in one run from home. A sorrel horse tied near the "gym" took fright at the excessive exhaust of breath panted out by the Prof and bolted across the campus.

Dr. Stubbs refereed the game, and by the worried expression of his countenance one would judge it taxed his brain more than any class in psychology aging.
At the end of the fifth inning the faculty had one more tally to their credit than the alumni, and quit right there, declaring themselves winners of this first of the faculty-alumni series of annual baseball games.

Filter Chamberland.

Henry Riter serves to those patrons who call for water a filtered quality of H2O that contains not one atom of impurities. The filter in use by Riter is of French patent and the principle is simple but effective. A large hollow globe is fitted onto a tube; within this tube a hollow earthen pipe is placed. Connections are made with a hydrant and when the cock is opened that leads from the globe, a suction of air takes place which causes a vacuum in the earthen pipe. The water drawn up from the hydrant seeps through the earthenware, leaving a residue of impurities on the surface, while nothing but pure and unadulterated water enters the pipe which is drawn up into the hollow globe and served to thirsty humanity.

The "Grapevine."

Last night's issue of the great Gazoo contained special telegraphic reports in flaring head lines that Wednesday morning's JOURNAL printed just fourteen hours previous. Better switch over to our "grapevine" system, Allen; for "Foreigners in Danger in China," "Buller's Forces are Advancing" and "Costly Blaze in Ploche" seems to travel faster over that line than your cable and associated press can wire them.

FOSTER'S PROPHECY

The Journal's Copyrighted Guess
at What the Weather Will Be.

(Copyright, 1900, by W. T. Foster.)

St. Joseph, Mo., May 31.—About the date of this bulletin a high or warm wave will be not far from longitude of Muscatine and San Antonio, moving slowly eastward, and a low or warm wave will then be in longitude of Toledo.

A low temperature wave of small dimensions will cross west of Rockies country about June 5th, great central valleys 7th and Eastern States 9th. About this time weather changes will be sluggish and of no great importance. Rather cool for good growing weather. Storm waves near the 7th will take southern routes and will be of a mild character.

From the 7th onward each succeeding disturbance will take a more northern route and increase in force. A marked augmentation in storm energies will be manifest about the 10th and at least a few local storms will result within ten days following. From the 15th to 18th these storms will probably reach their greatest force and the ten days drouth that will have visited portions of the country will be partially broken near the middle of the month.

Week ending 8 a. m. June 18 will average above normal temperature and below normal rainfall east of, and reverse west of the Rocky's crest.

Fourth of July;
Wake Up, Reno!

"To-morrow will be Friday, and we've caught no fish to-day." Even so, and the first of June falls due to-morrow, which means that our glorious Fourth of July is but one short month removed.

Are we to celebrate?
That is a question which should be settled right away quick, or Reno will slump along in a half-hearted manner, and the Fourth will find us totally unprepared to greet the day as every good American should.

Let's hear from our business men, our neighboring farmers, our politicians, in fact, from all who pretend to cherish the proper feeling for the commemoration of our day of freedom.

President and Faculty Receive.

Last night the reception to graduates, students and all friends of the University by the President and faculty was held at the gym. After receiving the visitors by the customary handshake and word of greeting, it was announced that "Olivette," the comic opera, would be staged for the entertainment of the assembled throng.

The opera was thoroughly enjoyed, and the musical talent of the variety again scored a big hit in their rendering of this pleasing travesty.

Muddy Waters.

No look for fisherman this week owing to the riled condition of the Truckee's waters. The mill men up the river are sluicing their logs down by damming up the water in the Boca ice ponds, then opening the gates and causing a flood tide to sweep the logs down to the mills.

A Round With "Dick" Nash.

Is there anyone in Reno—man, woman or child—who does not know "Dick" Nash, the guardian who keeps a vigilant eye upon the property and welfare of the sleeping inhabitants? No one, we can safely assert.

But, how many realize just what duties Mr. Nash performs? The hours that he spends in patrolling the silent city, and the ins and outs, dark corners and gruesome places—he visits all in the dead of night?

Last night, when the midnight hour lacked but a few minutes of striking, a JOURNAL scribe accompanied our night-watch on one of his beats. A great deal was learned in this shady preambulation, and the point of view from which Reno's patrolman has been viewed is widened considerably.

Mr. Nash has a regular routine—regular as clockwork; for never a night slips by but what Dick is ready for duty. Eleven years spent in ferreting out an element given to crooked work, assisted by sable darkness; eleven years of lonely visitations to narrow alleys, gloomy buildings, isolated sheds and hobo-infested resorts. This calling requires a man of nerve, and in Mr. Nash the requisition is found.

Mr. Nash, when asked if he ever became alarmed on his solitary tramps, remarked:

"I have heard of men who fear absolutely nothing, but in this type of humanity I have no faith; of course there are times when I know danger awaits me, and it is but natural for man to be alarmed in such cases."

Several incidents were related by Mr. Nash, which would incite fear in the best heeled "cop" on any beat. The business portion of town was visited by way of back entrances, also the N-C-O. property, flour mill and tenderloin district. At the windup of the tour of inspection the scribe entertained no desires of walking continually in the steps of Reno's night watchman.

Glendale's New Trustees.

The people of the Glendale school district elected their new trustees last Monday. Glendale cannot count up many voters in her confines, but the few there had a real interesting time casting their votes. The results were:

For long term—Hank Stevens, 26, Ed Wills, 6; Fred White, 9.
John Little, the only candidate for short term, received 40 votes.

A faint rumor comes floating to sharp ears that Glendale is to lose her most popular school mat'am. How, when, and where we must not say, but maybe you can guess.

His Life Was Saved.

Mr. J. E. Lilly, a prominent citizen of Hannibal, Mo. lately had a wonderful deliverance from a frightful death. In telling of it he says: "I was taken with Typhoid Fever, that ran into Pneumonia. My lungs became hardened. I was so weak I couldn't even sit up in bed. Nothing helped me. I expected to soon die of Consumption, when I heard of Dr. King's New Discovery. One bottle gave relief. I continued to use it, and now am well and strong. I can't say too much in its praise." This marvelous medicine is the surest and quickest cure in the world for all Throat and Lung Trouble. Regular sizes 50 cents and $1.00. Trail bottles free at S. J. Hodgkinson's Drug Store; every bottle guaranteed.

Queer Cards of Shrewd Lawyers.

Not all men of the legal profession are content with the severe inscription on their cards to which etiquette and custom usually confine them. An Ohio lawyer who makes a specialty of collections calls attention to this fact by a novel device printed on his cards and letter heads. On a great red-splotch intended to represent a drop of blood are the words, "Claims collected in cold blood," the capital "C" for the three first letters of those words being of sufficient size to encircle the other words.

In Maryville, Mo., a lawyer presents his portrait on his card, with the suggestive motto: "He that is not with you is against you. See me early."

KENNA, Jackson Co., W. Va.
About three years ago my wife had an attack of rheumatism which confined her to her bed for over a month and rendered her unable to walk a step without assistance, her limbs being swollen to double their normal size. Mr. S. Maddox insisted on my using Chamberlain's Pain Balm. I purchased a fifty-cent bottle and used it according to the directions and the next morning she walked to breakfast without assistance in any manner, and she has not had a similar attack since.—A. The woman who is lovely in face, form and temper will always have friends, but one who would be attractive must keep her health. If she is weak, sickly and all run down, she will be nervous and irritable. If she has constipation or kidney trouble, her impure blood will cause pimples, blotches, skin eruptions and a wretched complexion. Electric Bitters is the best medicine in the world to regulate stomach, liver and kidneys and to purify the blood. It gives strong nerves, bright eyes, smooth, velvety skin, rich complexion. It will make a good looking, charming woman of a run-down invalid. Only 50 cents at S. J. Hodgkinson's drug store.

In almost every neighborhood there is some one whose life has been saved by Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, or who has been cured of chronic diarrhoea by the use of that medicine.
